2.00 pm

“Common oral medicine problems”

Professor Stephen R Porter

(Institute Director and Professor of Oral Medicine of UCL Eastman Dental Institute)

[A broad spectrum of disorders can give rise to disease of the oral mucosa and salivary glands. These disorders may reflect local disease, be a consequence of systemic disease and/or may reflect social habits. This lecture will provide an overview of the common disorders of the oral mucosa and salivary glands that general dental practitioners may identify in their patients. In addition the lecture will include examples of uncommon, but sometimes clinically significant disease that may affect these structures.]
