

My name is Rosie and I'm going into my 3rd year at Manchester Medical School this September. I am very excited to start placement at my base hospital which is Preston!

As chair of the new Pathology Society at Manchester Uni, I am keen to begin working with others to help spread the word about the pathology speciality to medical and allied health professionals. The events that MMS have hosted have been particularly useful to increase my enthusiasm for pathology, so I am looking forward to endorsing their future events to society members.

In my spare time, I enjoy playing flute in the Manchester Medic's orchestra and attempting to play badminton (at an amateur level).
